Growing up on a rural farm in southern Minnesota, Jeff, the owner of our company, learned at an early age the true meaning of hard work and diligence in the details thanks to his dad. For nearly two decades, Jeff worked for a building contractor on a residential crew where he gained the experience and knowledge that he needed to venture out into the home renovation industry here in Florida. He personally worked on and helped renovate over 1,000 homes before moving to Florida with his wife Dori in 2013. In 2017 Jeff officially started Tropic Renovations and shortly after got his state-certified contractor's license, allowing his large crew of professional technicians to do the large remodeling projects they love to do.

Jeff and Dori have two grown and married sons who still love the Minnesota winters and the couple are grandparents to twin boys and two little girls, all under the age of 4. Though he doesn't get much time off, Jeff does enjoy getting out on area golf courses.

You won't see anyone from our company working on Sundays! As a once-full-time Family Ministry Pastor in Minnesota and seminary graduate, Jeff enjoys serving on Sundays and during the week at New Day Church in North Port as a lead on the Safety and Service Team. When you hire Tropic Renovations, the quality of work will not only be superb but 10% of profits will go back into the local community through church ministry initiatives and globally by supporting two students through Compassion International and World Vision.
