Providing Companionship & Peace of Mind

Now more than ever, compassion, kindness, and humility enhance the quality of our lives. For our senior citizens, extensions of gratitude, a helping hand, or an exchange of laughter can hold a special place in their hearts. A distinguished companion and homecare team, Sisters for Seniors understands the value in these moments. By bringing together a highly devoted group of caregivers to assist mature individuals with household chores, meal preparation, pet care, finances, daily errands, and more, they provide clients and their families with invaluable peace of mind.

In 2014, Sisters for Seniors was established by siblings Stacey Kroll and Stephanie Steffens with the intention of enhancing the lives of senior citizens with love and laughter along the way. Stephanie says, "There is nothing more gratifying than making a difference in the daily life of a senior." Stacey adds, "For some of our clients, we may be the only human contact they have each week. We take that responsibility very seriously."

Possessing over 35 years of combined experience in human resources and social work-related fields, these sisters have dedicated their supportive spirits to being a helping hand to the mature population in our community. "We begin with an assessment," explains Stephanie. "We want to get to know our clients by figuring out what is going to make life easier for them and make this a valuable experience. Then, it becomes almost like matchmaking. We pair them with one of our staff members and allow them the freedom to decide the rest."

Stephanie and Stacey share that serving residents in Venice and surrounding areas during the recent hurricane was a challenge. Stephanie says, "Many of our clients were lucky to have family in the vicinity, but many do not. Our staff really stepped up in helping some clients prepare to ride out the hurricane at home, as well as giving much-needed support during and after the devastation. Unfortunately, like so many of our neighbors, many clients' homes sustained significant damage, and some are no longer livable. We are so thankful to have such dedicated staff that goes above and beyond on a daily basis, but during Ian, they made some remarkable sacrifices to help our clients."

In addition to assisting with daily tasks around the home, Sisters for Seniors' staff continue to accompany seniors to their appointments, taking notes on medical recommendations as well as providing transportation.

As further credit to this caring company, it received both the Venice Area Chamber of Commerce 2018 Small Business of the Year and SCORE Southwest Florida's 2018 Business of the Year awards. Stacey notes, "We go above and beyond to make sure our clients receive the respect and care they deserve."

Numerous testimonials also attest to Sisters for Seniors' success. Jean, the daughter of a longtime client, says, "I wanted to thank you again for all of the extra care you bring to Mom. I'm not sure how we were so lucky to find you, but we're forever grateful."

Discover for yourself the special peace, relief, and joy that a one-on-one relationship with Sisters for Seniors can bring to your life.
