Drawn by the small sleepy yet vibrant beachfront town charm and strong community spirit of Venice, it wasn't long before visits turned into relocation for Realtor Kelly Pankiw, her husband, and her family. Kelly notes that living along the Gulf made it easy to embrace and understand why so many people often say, "It's another beautiful day in paradise."

Kelly explains that transitioning into a career in real estate came naturally after years of helping others with interior design and design choices. Kelly shares the motto "service above self" and is dedicated to serving her community through Rotary International, Habitat for Humanity, and Impact100SRQ. She emphasizes that the spirit of giving and caring is of utmost importance to her and her family, which is what led them to host Rotary exchange students for over 12 years.

When it comes to real estate, Kelly says, "I have always loved travel and adventure, but I often found myself longing to be home. This made me realize that 'home' is a very special place and should ultimately be your favorite destination. Choosing a home that fulfills that desire can be difficult without a knowledgeable, trustworthy partner who has a keen understanding of properties available in your chosen marketplace. It takes someone who is willing to get to know you, listen to you, and guide you successfully through your entire house-hunting, homebuying, and moving journey."

Kelly points out that the most important thing for her is relationships. "I offer personal service and never hand off my customers to anyone. Communication is crucial to our success when working together. Also, it doesn't end with the closing. My customers can count on me to stay in touch for years, providing current market information and being available to answer questions. I tell them 'My desired result is helping you reach your goals, always!' Much of the reason why I chose to affiliate myself with Engel & Völkers is the shared philosophy of professional dedication to our customers.

Additionally, the company has offices worldwide, offering world-class, white-glove service to buyers and sellers completing transactions from abroad."

Whether you are looking to buy or sell a home, Kelly wants you to know she will go the extra mile for you. She shares, "I understand that the purchase of a home is often the biggest investment people will make. For me, it isn't just a transaction. It's caring for and providing the information, experience, and tools that people need to make informed financial and life-changing decisions...I take that responsibility very seriously. I'm dedicated to providing my customers with the highest level of personalized service, and I look forward to helping you!"
